Dear Sir/Madam:

Please accept the attached petition for filing and the check for $250 which I have attached to cover the filing fee.

I understand that as of January 1st, 2007, electronic filing of petitions, pleadings, etc. has become mandatory. However, since I am not a licensed attorney and am not eligible to take the mandatory course required for attorneys to take in order to obtain an electronic filing ID and password, I am having to resort to using the conventional method of filing.

Based on the information included on your website concerning civil administrative filing procedures, I understand that you will be taking my petition—and taking the necessary steps (such as electronic imaging or scanning) so that my materials can be assimilated into your newly-implemented electronic filing system.

If I had been afforded access to your electronic filing system, these documents would have been filed today (Saturday, January 6th, 2007); but since I am not eligible for filing through your electronic system, January 6th, 2007 should still be considered as my filing date since I will be turning my materials in to the clerk at the local U.S. post office today.

Also—based on the information in the administrative filing procedures on your website, I understand that once that a case number has been assigned to the attached petition, that you will be notifying the defendants (all licensed attorneys) about this filing and if they are not registered with your electronic filing system, that you will notify me concerning utilizing alternate methods of service.

Thank you for your time and attention.

Sincerely,

Nora Soto Gutierrez

Dear Sir/Madam:

Earlier today, I mailed you documents relating to an Original Petition that I was filing—and inadvertently mailed in a copy of the Petition rather than the Original. I sent the other document using U.S. Certified Mail, RRR#7005.3110.0000.1181.7902.

When I got back home, I realized that I had left the original in the copier and had indeed mailed you a copy.

So I am now sending the original to you and it is attached herewith.

Please be so kind as to add it to the file in which the documents that I mailed to you via U.S. Certified Mail RRR#7005.3110.0000.1181.7902.

Thank you for your time and attention.

Sincerely,

Nora Soto Gutierrez
